I was very fond of the 9th edition and actually tried to get by with it in my current Spanish class (upper beginner). Unfortunately, I had to buy the 10th edition to keep up in class as the text had been extensively modified. The textbook is especially good at explaining complex Spanish grammar, particularly irregular verbs, pronouns, etc. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very good book, had it used but it did not ... By Customer Very good book, had it used but it did not show any rips or writing all over it. Buy it if you are in beginning process of learning Spanish. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Question about Book By YoungHello. It is recommended by my teacher as a good textbook. But can you tell me if the loose leaf version of this book still contain a book key with it? So that I can use the book key to get access to your online material. Thx

CMO SE DICE . . . ? Tenth Edition has proven itself as the most solid, reliable, full-scope introductory Spanish program in the market. Its solid four-skills methodology, unparalleled grammar explanations, flexibility, and ease-of-use been some of the main reasons for the program's success with students and longevity in the language classroom.

About the Author Ana C. Jarvis, a native of Paraguay, was born in Asuncion and attended school in Buenos Aires, Argentina. She received her Ph.D. in Spanish from the University of California, Riverside, in 1973. Dr. Jarvis retired from Chandler-Gilbert Community College after a long and distinguished career. Prior to CGCC, she taught at Mesa Community College; the University of California, Riverside; San Bernardino Valley College; Brigham Young University; and Riverside City College. In addition to authoring numerous Spanish textbooks, she has published several short stories in Spanish. In 1988, she was chosen as "Faculty Member of the Year" at Chandler-Gilbert Community College. Raquel Lebrede was born in Camaguey, Cuba. She attended school in Havana and later enrolled at the University of Havana, where she received a Ph.D. in Education. She was subsequently employed as an elementary school principal, and taught literature and language at a preparatory school in Havana. She moved to the United States after living in Spain for a period of time. Dr. Lebrede was awarded a Ph.D. in Spanish from the University of California, Riverside. Since then, she has taught Spanish at Claremont Graduate School, Crafton Hills College, the University of Redlands, and California Baptist University, and has authored several Spanish textbooks. In 1985, she was chosen as "Faculty Member of the Year" by the student body at California Baptist University, and in 1991 she received a YWCA "Women of Achievement" award. Francisco Mena-Ayllon, a native of Madrid, Spain, received his Ph.D. in Spanish from the University of California, Riverside, in 1973. He has taught Spanish language and literature courses at the University of California, Riverside; Oberlin College; California State University, Chico; the University of Redlands; and Crafton Hills College. In addition to authoring numerous Spanish textbooks in the United States, he has published a book about Federico Garcia Lorca and several volumes of his own poetry. His poetry has been published in Spain, Latin America, and the United States. His work has also been included in several anthologies of contemporary Spanish poets, and he is listed in Quien es Quien en las Letras Espanolas, 1978 (Who's Who in Spanish Letters), as an important contributor to contemporary Spanish literature. Professor Mena-Ayllon is now retired.
