Georgelle Hirliman : Dear Writer in the Window before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Dear Writer in the Window:

thought was that she'd merely be glib or funny, but she was profound and witty. I'd think of my own answers before reading hers and she certainly elevated the conversations. A good party game is to share the questions and let your friends tackle them before exploring her answers, then discuss her responses. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. I came across this book on its first publication several years ago when I was in my early 20's. After reading it, I went back and bought the remaining books in the stack at the bookstore. I loved this book so much that I shared it with all of my friends. Georgelle is an amazing woman who plants herself in windows of bookstores across the nation to answer the most precarious questions posed by passersby. Her responses are grounded in her experience, her truth and her love of life. I highly recommend you keep this one in your library and refer to it often.

While trying to write her first novel, Georgelle Hirliman found herself suffering a severe case of writers block. To break free she installed herself in the window of a bookstore with her typewriter and invited passersby to ask her anything they wanted. She found that responding immediately to unexpected questions freed her to write, and gave her joy, so for ten years she sat in bookstore windows in New York, New Mexico and Oregon, answering with grace and wit such questions as: WHAT IS THE ANSWER TO LIFE, THE UNIVERSE, AND EVERYTHING? WHY ARE THE RICH SO RUDE? WHY IS LIFE SUCH A BITCH? WHY WONT MY PARENTS BUY ME A HORSE? HOW MANY ROACHES ARE THERE IN NEW YORK? WHY DO PEOPLE FOLLOW THE GRATEFUL DEAD? WHAT HAPPENS TO ERASED WORDS? WHY ME?" At first I thought it was a gimmick but Ms. Hirliman's impromptu answers were as good as most books you pick up. Each reply was fresh and gave you a little bit of philosophy to take home." Lisa Green, The Wall Street Journal the Writer in the Window is a peripatetic troubador with an electric typewriter and a high-voltage imagination. Her answers are always interesting, often funny. Roy Sorrels, Writers Digest
