Amy did a great job again!By Jean MeyerAmy again did an amazing job of putting together all the information a dog parent needs in an easy to read and use format. Dog Facts is a book every dog owner should have.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Written with authorityBy Bonnie T.Amy Shojai writes with so much authority about pets. I've read some ARC copies of chapters in this book and can see that I will need the complete tome! Anything and everything you want to know about your dog is in here. She's written a similar book about cats and some amazing fiction books with animals as the main character, some even in a dog's 'voice'. Check them out!

You NEED DOG FACTS: The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia by Amy Shojai in Your Responsible Dog Owner Tool Box!!By Caren G.THE PERFECT DOG BOOK!FROM ONE OF THE MOSTKNOWLEDGEABLE AND TRUSTEDPET EXPERTS IN THE INDUSTRY!Have you ever read a book and when finished, you found yourself saying WOW! out loud?That is how I felt after I perused one of author Amy Shojais latest books, DOG FACTS The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia.I am honored to know Amy Shojai, and (have reviewed a few of her fabulous books. Dakota also had the distinct honor of winning a contest where his name is the name of one of the dogs featured in Amys suspense-filled thriller, Lost and Found), and to me, and many others, she is one of the most knowledgeable and trusted experts in the pet industry. If I sat here telling you I read EVERY PAGE of this OVER 600 PAGE INVALUABLE RESOURCE THAT SHOULD BE A PART OF EVERY HOME WHERE DOGS ARE IN RESIDENCE, I would be lying. THIS BOOK IS HUGE!! When I say HUGE I mean it is chock-full of information/resources that are needed and information/resources that those who share their lives with dogs DONT EVEN KNOW THAT THEY NEED!!!!I recently reviewed CAT FACTS The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia by Amy Shojai, and have assigned that book the honor of being my MAIN go-to (in addition to my Veterinarian), for all of my cat questions/concerns. DOG FACTS is even more so for me. I have owned a cat for most of my adult life, but Dakota is the FIRST dog I have had as an adult. When I say that I DESPERATELY needed this book when Dakota first entered my life that would be an understatement. I am beyond grateful, as Dakota is now in his early Senior years, to have this most comprehensive resource.Think you have read every standout dog reference book that exists? THINK AGAIN!*DOG FACTS: The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia is designed to answer all your questions. How do I choose the right dog? What holistic help and preventive care should I give? Why do dogs act the way they do, and what dog behavior indicates illness? What constitutes an emergency, and how/when can I safely treat my dog with home care and first aid? Inside youll find an easy-to-reference for that has:Alphabetical A-to-Z listingsEach letter of the alphabet that begins a section, is attractively drawn and eye-catching. There are more than 200 entries, covering everything from bloat and CPR to whiskers!!! Do you know what Nutrigenomics is? Or Jacobsons Organ? (Be honest, and dont Google it!) What about zoonosis? I didnt either, but I do now!There are charts (many dog lovers have requested repeatedly that there be a chart showing poisons, from plants to household items. Now you have it!), that list symptoms for a particular condition, the corresponding home care or first aid, the comparative veterinarian and holistic treatments, and preventive advice.As I mentioned above, it is virtually IMPOSSIBLE to list EVERYTHING of importance that is in this book. I went through it page by page and read about topics that interested me, or that I need to be concerned with in order to be prepared for what I may have to encounter with my own dog such as:Chasing Animals/VehiclesDakota used to do this when he was younger. He would jump and lunge at cars and people riding by on bicycles. I was pleased to read in DOG FACTS that the corrective measures that I had taken when walking Dakota were exactly what is advised to do to stop this unwanted behavior.Territorial Aggression*Collie Eye Anomaly (CEA)this is an inherited condition of Collies and Shetland Sheepdogs, and is an interruption in the development of the eye which impairs vision. Also referred to as collie eye defect, this is an inherited congenital condition affecting 70 to 90 percent of smooth and rough Collies in the United States and Great Britain. The condition also affects 2 to 3 percent of Border Collies, and its seen in Australian Shepherds, Shetland Sheepdogs and other herding dogs.(I had heard about this condition when Dakota entered my life, and am grateful to have a Veterinarian who specialized in the eyes in Veterinary school.)Artificial Respiration*Cancer*Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD)In DOG FACTS :The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia, by Amy Shojai, it states that the condition most frequently occurs in middle-aged dogs. The Basenji, Boxer, Chinese Shar-Pei, German Shepherd and Rottweiler breeds appear to be more prone to inflammatory bowel diseases than others, (but I have known an unusually high number of Soft Coated Wheaten Terriers who have this disease as well). Also Included:AppendixWhere you will find DOG ASSOCIATIONS and BREEDS AT A GLANCE, RESOURCES FROM ANIMAL EXPERTS TO ORGANIZATIONS and SYMPTOMS AT A GLANCE (that helps you identify what ailments might be bothering your dog.Easy-to-use IndexThe comprehensive, easy-to-use index makes quick reference a snap !!!!! DOG FACTS: The Pet Parents A-to-Z Home Care Encyclopedia by Amy Shojai makes me, and will make ALL dog lovers feel secure/comforted to have so much information available at their fingertips. It is yet another vital tool to add to my responsible dog owner tool box, and I cant stress enough that it is one that should be a part of yours as well!
