Daniel Lauber : Education Job Finder: Where the Jobs Are in Primary, Secondary, and Higher Education before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Education Job Finder: Where the Jobs Are in Primary, Secondary, and Higher Education:

One-fourth of public school teachers will retire by 2010. Over 2 million new high school teachers are needed this decade. The second fastest growing profession? Post-secondary teaching. The new Education Job Finder is the first complete guide for this rapidly changing field, detailing over 1,500 online and print job resources for teachers, administrators, counselors, school nurses, special education faculty, researchers, and even janitors from early childhood through post-graduate school. Learn exactly what each resource offers, how to use the Internet efficiently, and which job-search techniques are the most successful.
