About the AuthorDear friends, We all have missions in life. Some of us are fortunate enough to realize that the negative events we experience in life are an intelligent lessons that life throws at us without warning from unpredictable direction is to strengthen us and help us rise above the mad waves. The main challenge here is being selfless and generous. It's sharing that positive outcome with others, without any expectations, manipulations or feelings of gratitude while watching others going through the same negative motions as we did....Isn't it sad how we thrive on other's miseries??? One of my life pleasures is to never watch anyone wandering around. Instead, I enjoy sharing the positive outcome of my lessons with others and connecting people to their path whenever I can, with whatever knowledge I possess. It's like raising a wild, helpless baby bird, and then setting it free when it's ready to fly, knowing that there will be no rewards except self satisfaction. That's what I consider unconditional human love. I Want You To Become My Friend For Life. Elie Contact me personally at : info@elie.tv / 678-478-5732 Please allow few days for responding. thank you.
